Manchester. He is a negro. 22 years old, and cannot give an account of himself during the past forty-eight hours. He was first seen to-day in the woods at the Wa-Works station, about three miles in a direct line south from the scene of the Manchester murder. Two little girls reported to the police that he pulled a knife from all pocket, and, brandishing it in the air, said he had already killed one woman and would kill them if they weren't eareful. The police went after him, but he evaded them and entered the eastern end of the city. had not heard of his actions. They said he d not heard of his actions. police and newspaper men to the eastern station, where he was soon closeted with the officers.

To-night City Marshal Hilliard said the man gave his name as Louis Query of Florida. He says he has lived North only one year, and during part of that time he worked on a farm run by Henry Williams.

The questions put to him were either unanswered or evaded, and it was only when he was searched that the police became really suspicious. He said, in answer to the marshal's query about his livelihood, that when he had money he bought lood, when he hadn't money he found it. Last night he said he spent in the woods and slept on the grass hear the house. The description of the articles found in the man's pockets was not made public, but the marshal is satisfied that they were not obtained where he said they were, and he could probably not have obtained them outside of this city. His clothing was poor the only exception being his trousers, which, he said, were given to him in New York. The marshal said also that he has had a hint of some information to the effect that the man was seen about the northern section of the city a week ago. The man could easily have murdered Bertha Manchester, although there were no signs on his clothing to indicate that he had done so. He was in a locality where he could have hidden himself and remained for some days unnoticed. In the opinion of the marshal he is an escaped convict, and he will be detained for some days, even though no direct charge is preferred against him.

FANNY WYCKOFF'S MURDER.

The Searchers for the Murderer Still Groping in the Dark. Hupson, June 1.—The people who are trying to find the murderer of Fanny Wyckoff, whose body was found floating in Mud Creek on Sun-The first thing to decide is the day on which the girl was murdered, and on this point the onle here are divided. Some of them beyear-old con saw in the creek on May 19 and thought It was a scarecrow was the body of the murdered girl. Others believe that the the murdered girl. Others believe that the girl that Mrs. Parsio saw on May 20, who acted so strangely and finally disappeared, was Fanny Wyokoff. When Mrs. Parsios first saw the girl she was standing close to the mile post, at the cross roads, looking at directions. Then she started off toward Clarence Becker's home, which is on the road of two Milla. Nhe want a little ways only unrence necker's nome, which is on the road to Stone Mills. She went a little ways only and then turned back again, looked at the sign post, and started on the road toward Hudson. She turned back and, after again studying the guide post, she started on the Hudson road in the other direction. guide post, she started on the Hudson road in the other direction. Again she turned back and studied the guide post.

Mrs. Parsloe was asked to-day to describe the girl, and the description she gave was identical with that of Fanny Wyckoff, clothes, hat, and all. Mrs. Walter Kells, wife of the hotel keeper on the square just above the cross road, saw the woman and remarked to hotel keeper on the square just above the cross roads, saw the woman and remarked to her daughter: "That young woman acts as if she was a stranger." She and the daughter watched her and they describe her movements just as Mrs. Parsice describes them. But they watched a longer time than did Mrs. Parsice, and when she finally got started they say she took the road toward Stone Mills. They watched her an eighth of a mile up the road. Mr. Kells also saw this woman, and his description of her movements doesn't differ materially from the description of his wife and daughter and Mrs. Parsice. There were others at the hotel who saw her, and they all say positively that the girl was Fanny Wyck-off. If it was her, then she was allive on May 20.

The date on which the girl was killed is the

The date on which the girl was killed is the most important of all questions bearing on the identity of the murderer. There are so comparatively few strangers going through this part of the country that if she was killed by a stranger and the day was known, it would be very easy for the country folk to give a description of every stranger who was seen on that day, or, if she was killed by any one known here and the date of the killing was known, it would not be a difficult matter to trace the movements of every one in the neighborhood on that day.

They insist that they do not believe that the girl's body could have been in the water more than ten days. Had it been in the same state of preservation and not in the water they say they would not believe that she had been dead more than a week. If it was Fanile Wyskoff who was seen by Mrs. Parsice and the others the question is, where did she stop from May 8, when she left Mr. Haynor's, until May 20?

Mrs. Haynor describes the girl in this way: She was a country girl, you know, one of those kind who, if a man smiles at her and treats her kindly, will think that he is in love with her.

going away was in itself strange and r going away was in itself stranger rested that she had an appointment to a some person. Her actions the last time was seen that day indicated that she was seen that down one. Now who was person? Was it any one of the men with she was seen that day indicated that she expected to meet some one. Now who was that person? Was it any one of the men with whom at times she kept company?

Mr. George Wyckoff, the father of the girl, ame to Hudson to-day and called on Coroner Cochran. He gave the names of two other Foung men, besides Coons and Flowton, with whom the girl had kept company. He also said that when Fanny was at Mr. Douglass Miller's house with her mother, the time of her second queer disappearance from Mr. Raynor's, she saw Flowton and was out with him. Flowton told Detective Bryant and The SUN reporter that he had not seen the girl since last February. It was on a Sunday, Wyckoff said, the day before she went back to Mr. Raynor's and disappeared for the last time, that she was with Flowton. They were out together picking flowers on the mountains. The mother was with her a part of the time. Mr. Wyckoff made satisfactory explanation of his own actions and whereabouts since the time the girl disappeared, and any suspicion that may have been aroused by the statements of Mrs. Wyckoff and Douglas Miller is unfounded. Mr. Wyckoff saintements, however, did not entirely agree with the statement of his employer. Mr. Bushnell. Farmer Wollschlaeger denied to-day that he talked to Charlos Hace for twenty minutes, on commonplace topics on Sunday before he mentioned the fact that he found the girl's bedy. He said he ddin't talk with him hair a minute. Race repeated that he did.

As to the girl's threat to commit suicide. It is an absolute impossibility that she could have crushed her own skull as it was crushed, and it could not have been done by a fall of any kind. It was a Deculiar fracture, it was accrushed her own skull as it was crushed her own skull as it was crushed him alive. I am ready to swear, and so is liv, Fritz, that that girl was mutered and that he was dead the for own skull as it was placed in the wide. There is no possibility of December by an adulcive which was made by Dr.

MISS HERBERT CHEERED.

The Baughter of the Secretary of the Navy

ARRAPOLE, June 1.-Next to graduation and the ball, the most interesting feature of the programme during commencement week at the United States Naval Academy is the competitive company drill for a silk flag. This event occurred today and was witnessed by hundreds of visitors. Four companies contested for the prize. It was won by the First Company, commanded by Cadet W. Van Nest Powelson of New York, who will graduate at the head of his class tomorrow. Two naval officers and an army officer were judges, and the decision was arrived at after the merits of each company had been ter of the Secretary of the Navy, gracefully presented the colors, the Captain of the wining company bowing his acknowledgment. To-night a reunion of the Naval Academy Graduates' Association took place. About 100 officers were present. Secretary of the Navy Herbert is expected to deliver the diplomas to the cadets to-morrow. Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle will also be in Annapolis tomorrow. He will arrive about noon and take a trip down the bay. Gov. Brown of Marriand and staff will attend the ball, as will also the officers from the foreign vessels.
Two exercises for the entertainment of the

No witnesses were summoned except Medical Inspector F. L. Dubois, who attended Sheppard in his attack of coma. Dr. Dubois said Sheppard was in a condition of insensibility which could have been produced by a drug or narcotic. Sheppard showed certificates to prove that he had been a sufferer for seven years or more from liver trouble and frequently had morphine prescribed for him. On the afternoon of May 17. Sheppard said he went to visit a friend in Camden, N.J., and remained all night. Shortly after midnight, he was seized with pain and the friend, who is a druggist, gave him two pills to take. Sheppard stock them and felt relieved. At 5 o'clock the next morning the carpenter started to his shin, but the jar and joiting of the train brought back the acute pain, so he took two pills he had in his pocket, and which had been given him by his family physician in Camden. These pills contained one-quarter of a grain of morphine each. After Sheppard left the elevated station in Brooklyn he remembers nothing until he awoke aboard ship. He says he did not take a drink of any alcoholic or malt beverages from the time he left the ship until he returned. In court the druggist who gave Sheppard the first two pills testified that they also contained sulphate of morphia. In a triffe more than seven hours Sheppard must have taken, according to his testimony, al-

ADMIRAL GHERARDI'S NEW POST.

Me Succeeds Commodore Erben in Command

Bear Admiral Bancroft Gherardi yesterday morning assumed formal command of the navy yard in Brooklyn, relieving Commodore Erben, who has held the place for the past two in the change of commandants.

Following the reception there was a salute of eleven guns to the retiring commandant. Commodors Erben's flag was then hauled down from the Vermont, and Admiral Gherard's flag holsted in its place. More powder was then consumed in saluting the new flag.

Commodore Erben will at once assume command as Acting Rear Admiral of the European squadron with the cruiser Chicago as flagship. His staff will include Lieut. L. L. Reaney, flag officer; Alfred T. Mahan, Captain and Ensign: W. G. Hulline, private secretary.

Successful Trial of the Monterey.

WASHINGTON, June 1.-The coast defence ressel Monterey has completed her last officia trial trip, and there is rejoicing at the Navy Department at the result, in view of the re peated attacks that have been made on the character of the workmanship on the boilers and machinery. The trial was particularly severe in the endurance tost, the boilers being kept under full steam pressure and the engues at work for more than two days and three nights. The trial took place off the southern coast of california, the vessel leaving Mare Island Navy Yari last Saturday and returning yesterday. Capt. Howison, President of the Trial Board, telegraphed Secretary Herbert that the performance of the vessel was satisfactory in all respects. To add to the Board's findings, the following telegram dated May 31, has just been received from the chief engineer of the Monterey, forwarded through the proper channels:

Machinery worked verywell. No water on journals. Hachinery worked verywell. No water on journals.

No leaks in bollers. Continually in operation sixty, we hours. Power not as high as expected. Due to in-ferior coal. Speed nearly 13 knots.

The Naval Militia.

Washington, June 1.—The Navy Department is determined to do all in its power for the encouragement of the naval militia in the different States that have shown sufficient interest in this important branch of the defensive service to pass the necessary laws to warrant the vice to pass the necessary laws to warrant the extension of Federal aid. To-day an order was made transferring the oid monitor Nantucket to the naval militia of North Carolina. The monitor is a veteran of the war, and was under heavy fire at the bombardment of Charleston defences. She is now at the New York Navy Yard, and as soon as a few repairs are made she will be sent to Wilmington in convoy of some one of the new cruisers southward bound, and will be turned over to the North Carolina State authorities.

The Trial Trip of the Machine,

BATH, Ma. June 1.-The gunboat Machias will leave on Saturday afternoon for her trial trip on Long Island Sound.

The Machias is required to make 13 knots an hour. She is of 1,000 tons displacement, and the naval engineers are confident that she will more than realize the speed demanded. She is the first of the new navy to be constructed in Maine.

Washington, June 1.-President Cleveland will have more appointments of Major-Generals and Brigadier-Generals during his Administration than have fallen to any President since the war. In the first three months of his Administration he has advanced two officers, Col. Carlin and Col. Sternberg, to the grade of Brigadier, and in November next he will have a new Adjutant-General to appoint ipon the retirement of Gen. Williams. Of the three Major-Generals, Gens. Schoffeld and Howard retire, leaving Gen. Nelson A. Miles as the senior Major-General of the army, where he will remain until 1903, when he goes out on account of age. All the heads of the staff corps retire in the next four years except Gen. Sternberg, who has just been placed at the head of the medical corps, and Gen. Flagier, Chief of Ordnance, giving him the appointments of seven Colonels to be

The only Brigadier of the line to retire before the next Administration will be Gen. Alexander McCook, who will be placed on the shelf next April. Gen. Howard. at Governor's Island, retires Nov. 8, 1894, and Gen. Schofield on Sept. 29, 1895.
As Gen. Thomas Ruger will be the senior Brigadier in order of seniority, he will probably be advanced to a Major-General upon Gen. Howard's retirement, and Gen. Wesley Merritt promoted to Gen. Schofield's vacancy. In the Inspector-General's department Gen. Joseph C. Breckinridge retires Jan. 14, 1993, and in the Judge Advocate General's department, Gen. Swaim, who had been under suspension for a number of years, and who will retire before the expiration of his sentence, gors off the active list on Dec. 22, 1894, Gen. John P. Hawkins, head of the Subsistence Department, fettres Sept. 24, 1893. In the pay department Gen. William Smith has until March 29, 1895, to serve, when he will have to give way to another officer of his corps. Gen. Thomas Lincoln Casey, Chief of Engineers, the crack corps of the service, will be displaced May 10, 1895. Gen. Flagler, Chief of Ordnance, remains on the active list until 1899. The retirements of all these officers will create vacancies in the lowest grades which the President will have to confer upon some of the deserving officers in the line. Col. Chauncey McKeever of the Adutant Generals Department retires in August, when the President will have the appointment of a Major from the line to the corps. and Gen. Schoffeld on Sept. 29, 1895.

The joint Commission authorized by the Fifty-second Congress to investigate the methods of business in the executive departments held a meeting to-day and selected the ments held a meeting to-day and selected the experts who will go over the books. Previous to entering upon this work the Commission. consisting of three Representatives and three Senators, conferred with the President and members of the Cabinet, and received assurances of the hearty co-peration of the executive departments. The Commission, after carefully looking over the field, came to the conclusion that rathroad men would be best able to do the work, and selected as their experts men skilled in railroad accountings.

The chief expert in charge is Mr. Joseph V. Reinhart. President of the Atchison. Topeka and Santa. Fé Railroad, who has a wide reputation for abilities which particularly adapt him for this work. He will not engage in it actively, but will control and direct it, making periodical visits to Washington. The two men who will do the active work are Charles W. Haskins of New York city and E. W. Sells of Chicago. The former was connected with the accounting division of the New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railroad, and was auditor of disbursements under Mr. Reinhart. Mr. Sells has been in the accounting division of the Kansas City. Fort Scott and Memphis Railroad and the Colorado Midland Railroad. Ompany, but is now chief accountant at Chicago of the Atchison. Topeko and Santa Féroad. After going through the Treasury Department, the other execuive departments will be taken up. experts who will go over the books. Previous

THE CHAMPION PACER TURNS PIM-LICO TRACK IN 9:09 1-9.

Remarkable Performance So Early in the Season-Tony Klock Wine the Pim-lico Stake in Straight Reats-Germaine and George Sherman Capture Purses,

BALTIMORE, June 1 .- The exhibition mile of Mascot and the third annual renewal of the Pimileo Stakes were the special attractions which drew another good crowd to the trotting meeting to-day in spite of threatening weather. The King of all the pacers fairly burned the track in his exhibition against time. Starting to lower the Pimilco track record, 2:12%, he moved the mile in 2:00%, a wonderful feat for Mascot has been in active training ever since fan. 1, on the covered track at Buffalo, and he is already in better condition than at midsummer of last year. Although appearing a bit high in flesh as well as robust and vigorous he is fully keyed up to high form. This is shown by his strong finish in 2:00%, after having paced the first half in 1:04%. In the betting the odds were against his beating 2:11, which was the task his trainer, W. J. Andrews.

The Pimlico Stake brought a large field to the post, with every apparent prospect that a great race would result. Tony Klock had the sall in the auction pools at about even money over the field. Nellie Gray and J. C. being looked upon as the stallion's most formidable try never looked more attractive than when the two hundred odd guests were being driven over the two miles of road which stretch out between the station and "The Cedara." A special train from this city started away early in the morning with a large number of guests, who arrived at Mrs. Banks's beautiful colonial home a short time before the hour appointed for the ceremony, which was solemnized in the drawing room by the Rev. Dr. Williamson of New Hamburg. There were hundreds of clusters of white flowers set in vases, and huge jardinières in the different rooms on the first floor of the house, while the railing of the stairway was wound with pink and white rosea. Lander's orchestra from a place on the piazza, which runs around the house, played the proper kind of music until the bridal procession was formed in the wide hall which runs through the house. A $2,000 TROT AT FLEETWOOD PARK Gen. Bain's Lady Hartford Catches Monroe

The match between H. R. Murray's bay stallion Monroe Prince and Gen. J. P. Baiz's gray mare Lady Bartford was decided yesterday afternoon at Fleetwood Park. It resulted unexpectedly in the defeat of the stallion, who started a pronounced favorite and continued so until after the third heat. Lady Hartford was in first-rate shape, but Monroe Prince, who has been trained at Island Park, Albany, was very high in flesh, owing to a backward spring. Early betting was: Monroe Prince. Lady Hartford lost her stride near the quarter pole in the first heat, and the stallion went to the front. Fowler seemed to make no effort to win the heat, contenting himself with taking the measure of the big bay leader. In he second heat Monroe Prince was in trouble at the second turn, and the gray mare came home an easy winner.

Monroe Prince still ruled as a favorite. Lady Hartford broke at the first turn, and ran out in front of Monroe Prince, opening a long gap. Although she won the heat by two lengths. Attnough she won the heat by two lengths, McDonald claimed a foul—to square the mare's run against the stallion's two breaks coming home. The judges decided on calling its dead heat. The fourth and last heats were practically a repetition of those preceding. Monroe Prince proved to be a game horse, but his condition told severely on him, and at the finish altion told severely on him, and at the finish he was very tired.

A sweepstakes of mile heats, to sulky, owners to drive, resulted in a handy victory for the nine-year-old gray gelding Aleck, an easy going, long-striding roadster, who was driven to an old-fashioned sulky. Summaries: Match trotting race; $1,000 a side.

RILLED A MASKED BURGLAR.

John Tarpey Shot Dead as He Unsus INDIANAPOLIS, June 1 .- John Tarpey, ex-Street Commissioner of Haughville, was shot and killed by a masked burglar in Shaw's saloon at 1 o'clock this morning. Short-ly before 1 o'clock Tarpey, accomanned by Tom Shaw, a brother of the proprietor; Charles Eigelberg, the Town Treasurer, and Edward Eigelberg, the Town Treasurer, and Edward Moore, a town trustee, entered the saloon by the side door. As the four men entered they saw sitting opposite the open door John Hughes, the bartender. He was sound asleep. Eigelberg and Moore were some yards ahead of Tarpey and Shaw, and the former, as soon as he entered, was astonished to see a masked man behind the bar coolly ransacking the money drawer.

"What are you doing there?" Eigelberg de-manded. What are you doing there?" Eigelberg demanded.

The robber drew a revolver and started toward the open side door. As he reached the door Tarpey was just entering, having one foot on the step. Directly behind him was Shaw. Without saying a word the robber fired and Tarpey fell headlong into the salcom. Another shot was aimed at Shaw, but the latter knocked the revolver aside just as it was discharged, the ball crashing into the side of a neighboring building. A search was then made of the town for the murderer, some twenty men joining in the hunt. If he had been found he would have undoubtedly been hanged, as Tarpey was very popularin Haugh-ville and had many friends. He leaves a widow and four children.

Dana P. Horton and Henry R. Case. and John O. R. Wilson of New York, and if the case is brought to trial he promises to make some sensational revelations. His return was not wholly unexpected, as his attorney, the Hon. W. L. Sessions, has been in communication with him some time, and it was understood that he was to deliver himself up as soon as he reached Jamestown. He has led a roving life in the past nine years, and has aged perceptibly. He spent one winter in Mexico and the remainder of the time near Brantford, Ont. His longing for home was too strong, however, and at 7 o clock this evening he walked into the District Attorney's office, and greeted that official with a hearty handshake. For the next two hours he held a perfect leves, greeting friends and acquaintances, and, the preliminaries having been settled, he was admitted to ball in the sum of $2,000, John M. Col. Dan Groavenor's Resignation Called For. WASHINGTON, June 1. - Secretary Carlisle has called for the resignation of Col. D. A. Grosvenor of Ohio, brother of ex-Congressman Grosvenor, as chief of division in the First Comptroller's office. An effort was made in this case, as it has been in others, to have the deposed chief dropped into the classified assive, as he could be under the civil service rules, but Secretary Carlisis declined to allow it, on the ground that he had not sufficient places of that kind to go round, and did not propose to discriminate. Opposition to such a course early developed among the clerks, who objected to the chiefs of division being dropped into the SLSKN places, as it practically barred all promotion from the lower grades for some time to come. Mr. Grosvener asked of Mr. Logan Carlisis the reason for his retirement. He was told that the purpose was to put in his place as good a Democrat as he was a Republican.
